

"OLD TIMERS" NIGHT TO DRAW TOWN NATIVES

A number of well-known former residents of the community will be back for "Old Timers' Night" next Saturday, according to returns received by Mahlon P. Hartzell Sr., chairman of the committee arranging the "Old Timers" program.

Among those planning to attend are Rachael and Rosa Scott who taught here many years ago. Miss Rachael Scott wrote from her home in Easton, "Even after 40 years from dear old High Street School we have not forgotten the many boys and girls who were in our classes and of the fine places of distinction so many have reached, burgess, judge, assemblyman, teachers, nurses, etc., etc., etc., from my First Grade and on up."

"We are not very strong physically, but we do hope to be among the 'Old Timers' on September 22. A nephew, one of the sons of Belle Scott Stackhouse, has promised to arrange to take us to Gettysburg on Saturday and until Monday and Rosa and I hope to meet many, many of our former pupils and other friends."

H. P. Thorn, Martinsburg, W. Va., wrote: "It is with great pleasure that I accept your kind invitation to be present . . . In spite of my 88 years I still am active and enjoy good health. My eyesight is hindered though by floating cataracts . . . I therefore will be accompanied by my daughter . . . Incidentally I am observing my 62nd anniversary as a member of Gettys Lodge 124 IOOF."

A few have written regrets at inability to be present. Dr. William A. Kemper, of the University of Virginia, wrote a lengthy letter recalling events such as a "roast duckling dinner at the old Eagle Hotel." He asks about a number of friends of his youth in Gettysburg, but notes that his wife has just suffered a severe heart attack and as a result he will not be able to be present. Mary and Joseph Bagley wrote from Flushing, L. I., that Mr. Bagley's health will not permit the trip. Ethel Culp Rhoads, writing from Chehalis, Washington, is another who will not be able to be present.

display of old photos at the Gettysburg National Bank after the dinner session. The bank was opened specially for that purpose.

Tickets for the Sesqui pageant were placed on sale at the meeting.

With the observation that "everything that has happened in American history has happened in miniature in Gettysburg," Mr. Roth told incidents in early Adams County and Gettysburg history from Indian attacks to the coming of President and Mrs. Eisenhower. He quoted an 1847 history of Gettysburg as describing the town as including "300 neat and substantial buildings" and its inhabitants as "industrious and enterprising."

The GAR post home, the Reuning home on W. High St., the Dobbins House, school buildings, the court house, churches that served as hospitals during the battle here, the Codori home, schools, the Thaddeus Stevens home and other sights were included in the 200 feet of film shown and Roth recounted history connected with all of them. Another 100 feet of film had been made but failed to arrive in time for showing Monday.

Order Death For Misstep

BOSTON (AP) — Joseph J. Spec's O'Keefe, admittedly one of the robbers of the $1,219,000 Brink's money, testified that a jeopardizing misstep by any member of the gang was punishable by death.

He told a Superior Court jury yesterday that the alleged robbers agreed at a meeting that there was to be no display of wealth — that no one was to buy a house and no one was to buy a Cadillac and said it was agreed that anyone who jeopardized the others should be killed.

He said it was Henry Baker, 50, who brought up the death pact at a meeting a few days before the Jan. 17, 1950, robbery.

ENGINEERS VET ENDS TO AGAIN FACE BULLETS

BETHLEHEM, PA.—"Are those two guys back again?" could be the muttered query of nine rival coaches of Lehigh University's varsity grid squad.

The reason: Austin E. Short, Quakertown, and Thomas A. Faillace, Mamaroneck, N.Y., have been fixtures at end for the Browns and White for the past two years.

Lehigh will open its 73rd gridiron campaign at 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon against Gettysburg College in Taylor Stadium. It will be the first home opener for the Brown and White in six years.

Short and Faillace have compiled impressive records. Offensively, they rate as two of the finest pass-catchers in Brown and White football history. Only Tom Gunn, who packed away his moleskins after the 1953 season, bettered the receiving records of Short and Faillace in modern Lehigh football history.

Impressive Records

Last year, Short nabbed 21 passes for 301 yards. As a sophomore in 1954, he was on the receiving end of a dozen aerials for 203 yards. Faillace caught 18 passes for 254 yards as a sophomore and added 11 more last year for 265 yards.

The most promising rookie prospect is 6-1, 185-pound Joseph M. Wenzel, Hastings-on-Hudson, N.Y. A right halfback on last year's freshman eleven, Wenzel was converted to end during spring drills.

Other sophomore prospects are Anthony Almasy, Bridgeport, Conn.; David R. Nevil, Stroudsburg; and David C. Springman, Chester.

Two junior reserves from the 1955 squad are battling for second-string berths. They are Frederick M. Daley, Hartford, Conn., and John H. Schneider, Port Washington, N.Y. Philip G. Leigh, senior from Pleasantville, N.J., is the ninth flank candidate.

SEMINARY GRAD ACCEPTS CALL

Rev. Franklin E. Patsenke, Enola, will assume the pastorate of the Lutheran congregation of St. Paul's (Wolf's) church, near Thomastown, on November 1, church officials confirmed Sunday.

The bankers were told that the principal benefit of the trust departments of banks is "the never ending good will that is created by sympathetically solving the many personal problems of the beneficiary. This is not only a great duty of banks but it also cements the families to your institution as no other accomplishment can do. By working well together, for the good of the customers, the stockholders, and employees, by simply doing their job efficiently, humanly and continuously, and by letting the public know about it, bankers can continuously have good public relations in all departments."

Rev. Patsenke, who has served the Enola church since 1951, was graduated from Lebanon Senior High School in 1939, from Lebanon Valley College in 1943 with a bachelor of arts degree and from Gettysburg Lutheran Seminary in 1945. SAYS ALL HAD RIGHT

Attorneys Donald G. Oyler and Charles W. Wolf for the 97 plaintiffs held that if one plaintiff was entitled to relief it could not be denied on account of others. They said the large number of plaintiffs came about when some of the persons living nearby telephoned others and that "all in the area had a right and a desire to participate in the action."

Further discussion brought observation from the court that the presence of 97 plaintiffs made the suit appear more of a petition to town council than a case before court and that the court is not impressed by numbers, but by the law.

The argument developed that some of the plaintiffs did have a case and as a result an injunction was granted, but that others, had they alone brought the suit, were so far removed that they could not have been determined as suffering injury and there would have been no injunction.

The court took the case under advisement.

STOCKS LOWER

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was lower in early trading today.

Losses were mostly narrow, although a few issues were off between 1 and 2 points a share. A handful of specialties, bolstered by corporate news, made gains of a point or more.

The lower trend was in evidence from the start and some issues were extending their losses as the session progressed.

FIFTY YEARS AGO Pen-Mar's Best Season: The lighting of Pen-Mar Park by electricity has had the effect of giving visitors an opportunity of socially spending the evenings in the park or those seeking quiet to spend their time at the hotels or cottages. The attraction will bring more new faces to the park next year than ever. This has been the best year the park has ever known. It is said, up to this time by those in position to know that the railroad company has hauled more people than at any season since the opening of the park.

The season will close October 1st; a week later than usual. The park, however, will be in full swing on Sunday, October 7, as a big German society is coming up from Baltimore that day. The carousels and all the attractions will remain for the date. The orchestra, however, will leave on the evening of October 1st.

TIME'S PARADE

As the years went swinging by
On the sideline I've stood cheering;
Some were bright and clear of sky,
Others dull with sorrow nearing Spring, the line of march was heading;
Summer right behind it treading.

Summer followed next in line.
Many a pretty smile she cast me,

Then this startling thought was mine:

Autumn's troops had hurried past me.

There was winter! Cold winds blowing;

Children shouting: "It is snowing!"

Time's parade is never ending.
Forward days and weeks keep moving.

On a half there's no depending.
What will follow there's no proving.

Skies today are gray with sorrow,
You may find them blue tomorrow.

Every year must have four seasons.

Life is meant for all to share it.

For our heartache there are reasons;

Trust the Lord and try to bear it.

Were it no for hours of sadness, Constant joy would turn to madness.

U.S. OFFICIALS
CONSIDER NEW PLAN ON ARMS

WASHINGTON (AP) — American officials are considering a new piecemeal approach to breaking the East-West disarmament deadlock.

They are taking their cue from what they regard as the apparent success of President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace plan. It is understood they are readying a proposal to Russia which might be paraphrased this way:

We have failed to reach a general disarmament settlement. But let's see what details we can agree on, and settle those one by one.

Some such cooperation between the United States and Russia is hoped for in disarmament fields.

Death Valley in Inyo, Calif., is 280 feet below sea level.

Some To Take Time

The rest can be set aside to a later time when perhaps mutual understanding may have grown to a point where these too can be settled.

Soviet Premier Bulganin, in his latest letter to Eisenhower on disarmament, denounced anew Elsenhower's "open skies" inspection plan, proposing instead a ban on nuclear tests and limitation of armed forces.

HAVE HIGH HOPES

U.S. diplomatic officials hold high hopes for a meeting in New York Thursday of some 80 countries to approve the basic agreement setting up an international atoms-for-peace agency.

American disarmament specialists consider the atoms-for-peace venture, first proposed by El-senhower in December 1953, an outstanding success. After some initial reluctance, Russia ultimately joined in.

Some such cooperation between the United States and Russia is

STEVENSON NOT AGREEING WITH
TRUMAN ON HISS

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson says he has no doubt former President Truman—an ardent exponent of "give 'em hell" campaigning—is making political hay

But Stevenson, who won the Democratic presidential nomination despite Truman's contention he was a "defeatist," is refusing to go along with Truman's statement that Alger Hiss was not a Communist spy.

Stevenson also balks at the term
"legal racketeers" which Truman leveled at the Eisenhower administration, but does say he and the former President see eye to eye in condemning a situation he believes Truman had in mind in using the party's best interests.

In his comment on Alger Hiss, which amounted to backing politically away from Truman on that matter, Stevenson said that in producing him on Hiss such Republican leaders as Vice President Nixon and GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall are "back on the same low road they traveled" during the 1954 congressional campaign.

TRIES TO PROD IKE

Stevenson called on Eisenhower to say whether he approves "this sort of campaigning." There was no White House comment.

Hiss, a former State Department employee, served almost four years in federal prison after being convicted of perjury in denying he ever passed government secrets to a Soviet spy ring.

Truman replied "No" when asked in Milwaukee Sept. 3 whether he considered Hiss a Communist spy.

Nixon and Hall, among others, later challenged Stevenson to repudiate that Truman statement.

Asked whether he subscribed to the Truman view, Stevenson recalled he declared regarding Hiss during the 1952 campaign: "As I have repeatedly said, I have never doubted the verdict of the jury which convicted him."

Yesterday Stevenson added:

"Nothing has happened since then to change my views. Now, if what I said four years ago places me in disagreement with what President Truman says now, that is where the record must lie, must rest."

It was Stevenson's first formal comment on Stevenson's remarks.

Stevenson said he has no doubt Truman will have far more requests to speak during the campaign "than he can possibly accommodate." And he said the Democratic National Committee will see to it that Truman "is used where and when it will serve the party's best interests."

URGES WEST AS TRAINING LAB
ON PEACE ATOM

By BEN F. MEYER

WASHINGTON (AP) — An American conference appeared determined today to make the Western Hemisphere one of the world's great laboratories for peaceful use of atomic energy.

Proposals by the United States, Argentina and Ecuador that atomic energy be made to serve man, rather than destroy him, were introduced at a meeting yesterday of representatives of the 21 American schools, and that the Puerto Rican project too would be open to Latin Americans.

ANNOUNCES PLAN

He announced also a new plan, already under way, to make the Inter-American Institute for peaceful uses of atomic energy. The United States announced it already has started a news conference since he was nominated. He came, with apologies for being almost half an hour late, to a crowded ballroom of the Park Sheraton Hotel with two prepared statements in anticipation of questions which were asked of him.

The first was on the Suez crisis
—Did he regard the administration's handling of it as a fair campaign issue?

In his statement, Stevenson characterized the Suez situation as "dangerous," but said he did not want to "add to the difficulties" of Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles by discussing it now beyond saying, "We all hope, regardless of domestic politics, that a peaceful solution can be found"

Carl Furillo's Bat Wins For Brooks Over Redlegs As Giants And Braves Split Important Pair

By ED WILKS

The Associated Press
Carl Furillo, tagged for a quick swap if a good pitcher had been available in June, is King Carl again in Brooklyn today, spearheading the Dodgers' September drive for the National League pennant.

Game after game it's been one of Brooklyn's old pros (and there's a flock of 'em) getting the job done. But more often than not, it's been Furillo swinging the bat-up bat in the close ones.

He was at it again last night, knocking in two runs with a two-out first-inning single and then wrapping up the Dodgers' fourth straight victory with a 10th-inning home run that beat Cincinnati 5-4 and hoisted the Brooks into a one-game lead.

Pitching Crumbles

Milwaukee's second-place Braves, their pitching crumbling a little more every game, split a twi-night pair with the New York Giants, winning 4-1 behind old reliable Warren Spahn after suffering their first defeat of the season in the Polo Grounds 7-2.

Those were the only games scheduled in the majors.

Furillo's heroes last night were prompted by back-to-back home runs by Ed Bailey and Ray Jablonski with two out in the ninth inning that tied the score at 2-all. Bailey's 26th home run was a two-run poke, chasing relief ace Clem Labine — making his first start since July 24, 1955 — after he had rolled along with a six-hitter, retiring 15 in a row before Bailey's smash. Jablonski's shot, his 15th, was the first off reliever Don Bessent in 53 1-3 innings since June 28.

39th For Snider

Carl Erskine, reduced to bullpen status with Labine's promotion, won it in relief as Furillo tagged reliever Brooks Lawrence with the defeat for a 19-10 record.

Duke Snider poled his 39th home run, breaking a tie for the league lead with Cincy rookie Frank Robinson, for a 3-1 edge against Hal Jeffcoat in the third inning.

Southpaw Johnny Antonelli gave the Braves a third straight defeat in the first game, allowing six hits and not walking a man while hitting a two-run homer himself. It wasn't necessary for his 17th victory. The Giants had scored three against starter Gene Conley in the second inning. Willie Mays added his 34th home run for New York, while Bobby Thomson and Johnny Logan homered for Milwaukee.

Spahn, winning his 18th of the season, scattered nine hits and left 13 stranded in the nightcap.

Jack Dittmer hit his first homer and drove in two runs in the nightcap. Billy Bruton and Ed Mathews also homered for the Braves.

BOB LANZETTA LOVES FOOTBALL

BOSTON (P)—Few players love the game of football as much as sophomore guard Bob Lanzetta of Northeastern University.

On the practice field the 185-pound, 23-year-old service veteran looks like all the other candidates.

But for Bob, it is an almost sleepless vigil.

The reason: He works from midnight to 8 a.m. at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Brockton as an aide in the psychiatric division.

Toss in class time from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., football practice sessions and study time and you've run out of hours.

When does Lanzetta sleep? "Weekends," he says.

Dow Finsterwald, who led pro golf's money winners late in May, didn't get a chance to qualify for the U. S. Open because he was in Dallas, Tex., and had filed his entry to qualify in Cincinnati.

BRAVES BETTER THAN IN 1948 SPAHN ASSERTS

PITTSBURGH (P)

BRITISH BOXER IS IMPRESSIVE WINNER IN N.Y.

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (P)—A $5,600 gamble has paid off today for British Empire middleweight champion Pat McAtee and Manager Johnny Campbell.

The handsome, 24-year-old invader scored an impressive and popular unanimous decision over rugged Jerry Luedee in his American debut last night and had assurances of plenty of work when he makes a second trip to the United States. He won the plaudits of the fans by getting off the deck in the second round to come on and wallop the New Haven six-footer.

"It is well worth the risk," said Campbell after his protege's solid victory in a telecast 10-round fight at St. Nicholas Arena. "We paid our 12 months to get the International Boxing Club to bring Pat over here. They weren't interested."

Dropped In Second

"So I decided I'd be like a salesman and display my goods. We paid our own way over and invested 2,000 pounds ($5,600) all told in getting Pat ready. Teddy Brenner (St. Nick's matchmaker) saw Pat in the gym and booked him. Now that Pat's a hit here we know there will be plenty of offers."

"Any club that loses this race has nothing to be ashamed of. Brooklyn has the benefit of the schedule and they're a bunch of old pros too. They smell that day of rain, and they're going to be tough. But if they can lose two..."

No Soft Touch

If the Braves think they're going to have a soft touch with the Pirates, they're mistaken, growled Bucco Manager Bobby Bragan.

"We're worrying about sixth place, not who wins the pennant," he said. "We're hopeful of finishing sixth and I'm throwing my best at both the Braves and Brooklyn."

"WIFFI" SMITH FACES CAPTAIN IN USGA PLAY

INDIANAPOLIS (P)

Margaret (Wiffi) Smith, freckled muscle girl of international amateur golf, drew her Curtis Cup team captain, Mrs. Harrison F. Flippin of Ardmore, Pa., in today's second round of the 56th USGA Women's Amateur.

Wiffi, 19-year-old out of the same mould as pro Patty Berg, has won 19 of 20 tournament matches this year, captured the British and French championships and turned in the best U.S. Curtis Cup performance.

The new Texan, a recent emigrant to Orange, Tex., from St. Clair, Mich., was a pre-tournament favorite. But while she was sitting out the first round with a bye, some of the other 104 starters were playing golf too loish to be downgraded.

Harrisburg Girl Loses

Anne Quast of Everett, Wash., Western champion and Curtis Cup alternate, turned in the best card of the first round in a 6 and 5 victory over Cynthia Sullivan of Harrisburg, Pa.

Miss Quast, winner of the North and South tourney last winter, shot a 1-over-par 37 on the front nine. Then she won the last four holes, birdie-par-birdie-par, one under for 13 holes.

Jane Nelson of Indianapolis, another Curtis Cupper and runnerup to Pat Lesser of Seattle in last year's tourney, avenged her 1953 defeat in the women's Western final. The wisecracking Jane got even with Mrs. Robert J. Stanick of Cleveland, the former Claire Doran, by shooting the day's only par 36 on the front nine and winning, 2 and 1.

Miss Lesser, who won both the

PREPARE SWAPS FOR OPERATION

NEW YORK (P)—Career Boy returned to Belmont Park Monday for a brief rest after winning the $100,000 United Nations Handicap, while a veterinarian was preparing to operate on the foot of the injured Swaps.

Swaps, the California flash owned by the partnership of Rex C. Ellsworth and John W. Galbreath, was withdrawn from the grass course race at Atlantic City Saturday about 50 minutes before post time.

Trainer Mish Tenney said the 1955 Kentucky Derby winner had aggravated an old injury to his right fore foot, and that the 4-year-old world record smasher would be back galloping in 10 or 12 days.

Kerrigan earned the right to meet Ford when he defeated Friderig on Friday at the VFW courts.

Another blow was dealt the Warriors when X-rays revealed that Roy Goldsmith, 170-pound sophomore guard, received a fracture of the right upper forearm and will be lost for the remainder of the season. The lad was injured when his arm became caught between a car and a tree.

Ellsworth had no immediate plans for Swaps, although his stable will go to Garden State Park at Camden, N.J., after Atlantic City closes Oct. 9. Swaps is nominated for the $50,000-added Trenton Handicap there Oct. 24.

Miss Thriftway, a thunderbolt on water, roared to victory in two of her three heats over the weekend. And despite hurriedly mended damage to her hull, she finished second in the last of the 16-mile runs to defeat her bitterest enemy, Miss Pepsi.

ADLAI TO BEGIN 11-STATE TOUR NEXT WEEKEND

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
WASHINGTON (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson, said to be encouraged after Round 1 of his campaign, takes off next weekend on a new eight-day tour of 11 states ranging from Colorado to Florida.

The 7,000-mile tour will start Saturday with a major farm address at the National Field Days and Plowing Contest at Newton, Iowa. President Eisenhower speaks there Friday.

In a telegram on Sunday GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall challenged the Democratic presidential nominee to repudiate former President Truman's statement that Alger Hiss, in Truman's opinion, was not a Communist spy. Hiss, a one-time State Department employee, served a federal prison sentence after being convicted of perjury in denying he passed government secrets to a Soviet spy ring.

To Visit South

"Does your silence mean you agree with Mr. Truman's statements?" Hall asked.

The Stevenson campaign itinerary announced Sunday night for Sept. 22-30 not only starts in the Farm Belt with the Saturday speech at Newton; it includes addresses in several other key agricultural states, underscoring how both parties are working hard for the farm vote this year.

Traveling mostly by plane and some by automobile, Stevenson will go after that vote in such states as Kansas, Missouri, Indiana, Wisconsin and Minnesota, in addition to Iowa. He will also dip into the South and some of the border states, visiting Louisiana, Florida, Oklahoma and Arkansas.

After 12,000 miles of campaigning, he reportedly is delighted by the outlook but is determined to keep on slugging without letup.

He did keep slugging at Eisenhower and his administration in a speech to several thousand persons at an outdoor rally near Fairfax, Va., Saturday night.

It was a bid to woo Virginia, which went for Eisenhower four years ago. Stevenson chose an area where many federal employees live, across the Potomac River from Washington, to cut loose at the administration's loyalty-security program for government workers.

He called the handling of that program "a shameful chapter in American history," and said it is based on a background of "shameless political trickery" going back to the 1952 GOP campaign.

He accused the administration of having conducted "guerrilla warfare" against federal employees and added:

"But soon a congressional investigation disclosed that 90 percent of the persons the administration claimed to have fired as 'security risks' were never determined to be 'security risks' at all; that others were not even fired but were merely transferred from one agency to another; and that half of those that were fired as security risks were hired by the Eisenhower administration itself."

"And finally the administration admitted, after about three years of devastating harassments, that no single person was fired for being a Communist."

$250,000 IN DRESSES STOLEN

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Nearly all the chic dresses designed by Pauline Trigere for her exclusive New York clientele this fall disappeared from a cargo dock at Kansas City's municipal air terminal Saturday.

Miss Trigere estimated her loss at $250,000.

The FBI is working on it but has not reported any progress.

The 92 dresses—packed in five cartons weighing 253 pounds—were delivered to the airport after a style show here. They were bound for another showing at Louisville.

rural politicians.

The rapid growth of urban areas with their vote concentrations and new, changing values may well be something for politicians to ponder. The grass roots of tomorrow may be on a bus line and, as Stevenson found out, they can be heard.

Meanwhile, pasture politics will stick around a little longer—and it still has television beat all hollow.

Fried Birthday Hen In Poisoned Grease

PITTSBURGH (AP) — That chicken John Giancola fried as a present to his mother on her 89th birthday tasted pretty good to them. . . . but Giancola's wife discovered Giancola had fried the chicken in grease into which she had mixed mouse poison. Giancola, 54, and his mother were rushed to hospitals and given antitoxins. Both responded quickly and were discharged.

Pasture politics still is about as good a way as any for a politician to get down to the grass roots.

Sometimes, though, the folk who make up the grass roots can be a bit confusing, as the Democrats' presidential nominee, Adlai Stevenson, found out Saturday night.

When he came to Washington to set up campaign headquarters, Stevenson agreed to cross the Potomac and assist local Democrats in their efforts to recapture Virginia's 10th District House seat from the Republicans—and thus was born the idea for a big barbecue.

While the 10th Virginia District has its particular peculiarities, it still is a product of the trend in this country toward suburbia.

Little Real Poverty

It is filled with white collar workers, many of whom belong to the new station wagon set. These people differ from their counterparts elsewhere only in that a large percentage of them work for the government.

Mixed in with the suburbanites are old line families, who continue to farm their lands.

In this suburb, as in the suburbs elsewhere, there is little real poverty and little great wealth. The educational level is considered high.

About 5,000 of these people turned out for the rally.

As rally with "gala entertainment, music and good food," the affair was a bust. It rained. One of the two speaker systems failed. There was a shortage of barbecue.

Lost Virginia In '52

In 1952 Stevenson lost Virginia to the Republicans. In that campaign the state's major political figure, Democratic Sen. Harry Flood Byrd, sat on the sidelines.

This year, Byrd thus far has been silent, although he criticized the Republicans' civil rights platform plank at unsatisfactory.

"And finally the administration admitted, after about three years of devastating harassments, that no single person was fired for being a Communist."

At the rally Stevenson was giving his speech a last-minute polish, when the name of Byrd was mentioned. There were loud and widespread boos and hisses. Stevenson looked up from his text, obviously surprised.

Was Partisan Crowd

This was a partisan Democratic crowd expressing disapproval of a state leader in the presence of their national leader. Here was a clear case of the grass roots expressing an opinion. In his speech Stevenson made no mention of Byrd, for whom there was applause when it turned out that he was sending his "best wishes" to the rally. Byrd said the illness of his wife kept him from attending.

It probably would be a reasonably safe guess that the initial boos were attributable in this particular suburb to some unrest over domination by downstate

Five Survive
Sinking Above
Arctic Circle

BODOE, Norway (AP) — Mariners and airmen searched the icy sea off Norway again Monday for 31 missing crewmen of the sunken American freighter Pelagia, but all were believed lost.

The Pelagia went down Saturday night in a raging storm above the Arctic Circle. Five survivors and a crewman dead of exposure were found on Sunday in a lifeboat.

The survivors said they last saw their shipmates on the deck of the sinking freighter. They said the gale smashed the ship's three other lifeboats and that they were afraid the others were unable to get away.

Boston police got a call from Mr. and Mrs. Oliver G. Bowen of Pasadena, Calif. They were at Hartford, Conn., and said they lost the money while in Boston.

A few hours later, police reported, the Bowens called again, this time from Norwalk, Conn., to say the money was found in one of Mrs. Bowen's shoes.

Bound For Baltimore

The Pelagia, a World War II Liberty ship loaded with 10,000 tons of iron ore, was bound from Narvik for Baltimore. Most of the crew were Americans. The captain, John Matanatos of Houston, Tex., was born in Greece.

The survivors said they last saw their shipmates on the deck of the sinking freighter. They said the gale smashed the ship's three other lifeboats and that they were afraid the others were unable to get away.

Hadjicostas gave this account:

Tremendous seas rolled over the ship and smashed the No. 1 hold. It rapidly filled with water. As the water rose, the bow sank until the propellers broke clear of the water.

The seas shattered part of the bridge, damaged the deck and crushed three of the four lifeboats.

The fourth boat was launched and the six men scrambled in.

Then a giant wave swept the boat away, snapping the mooring line like a string.

One of Orphanos' legs was frostbitten. The other four men were in good shape, but exhausted.

The Northern Duke brought them to the Norwegian port of Harstad. They told reporters how the ship sank and of their subsequent battle in an open boat against the sea and the cold.

DOGS HEALTHIER AND BETTER FED THAN MASTERS

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (P)—If the average man never had it so good in America—well, the average dog is having it even better.

"Dogs in this country are increasing faster than people, per cent a year," said Walter Kendall, "and they are also better fed than their owners because they eat a more balanced diet."

"They are also healthier, because very few dogs drink or smoke."

Dog Week Here

Kendall, a Los Angeles dog food manufacturer who has raised some 500 Scottish terriers, is president of the National Dog Welfare Guild. The organization sponsors the 29th annual national dog week which opens Sunday.

The theme this year is Rover's role in creating a safe home.

"Some 17 million American families now own a total of 23 million dogs," said Kendall. "The growth of the suburbs is causing a tremendous increase in the dog population."

"But you don't need a police dog or a mastiff to protect your home. Burglars aren't scared off so much by dogs that attack them as by dogs that alert the household by barking."

Tips On Training

"For this purpose the smaller dogs—terriers, miniature schnauzers and toy poodles—are often best, because they are more nervous."

Kendall gave this tip for training watchdogs:

"If you want the dog to guard your house at night, feed him in the morning. Then he'll be alert and hungry by nightfall, and won't fall asleep."

"If you want him to be alert during the day, feed him at night."

Full Of Facts

Kindall is a strolling encyclopedia of canine statistics, such as: "Americans spent $24 million dollars for dog food last year, and the nation's pet shops grossed $50 million dollars from the sale of dogs."

"The average dog weighs 20 pounds, eats 800 calories a day, costs $50 a year to feed and lives to be 10 years old."

"The larger the breed the shorter the life. A great Dane ordinarily lives to be 7 or 8, a chihuahua will last 12 or 15 years."

Seven Times As Fast

"I heard of one dog—I forgot the breed—that lived to be 26. Since a dog lives seven times as fast as a person, that's equivalent to a man living to be 182. Very remarkable."

"Some parents now worry because their young children prefer dog biscuits to cookies. No reason to. They won't hurt a child and have more real food elements

Presidents Of 21 Republics Meeting

WASHINGTON (P)—Representatives of the presidents of the 21 American republics met here Monday to review Latin America's economic problems, and ways of solving them.

The meeting grew out of a suggestion by President Eisenhower. Dr. Milton Eisenhower, the President's brother, is the United States representative at the conference.

After the conference ends Wednesday, delegates are to consult with their governments, then meet again in Washington, probably early next year, to draft specific recommendations.

LONE PILOT KILLED

CLARION, Pa. (P)—A 33-year-old pilot, flying alone from Youngstown, Ohio, to Norristown, Pa., was killed Saturday as his small plane plunged into a wooded section two miles west of Clarion. State police said Charles Holden of (42 Gainwood Rd.) Levittown, Pa., burned to death when his four-place avion appeared to disintegrate in the air then plunged to the ground and burst into flames.

Laurel race track is 20 miles from both Washington and Baltimore and occupies 320 acres of Anne Arundel County in Maryland.

"South Carolina has more dogs, in comparison to the number of people, than any other state. But dogs in California are better fed and live longer."

Prey To Ailments

It seems that Rover, like his master, likes varying flavors in his food. His favorites: Meat, vegetables, cheese, ginger and charcoal. Not even a talking dog has ever been known to murmur, "make mine vanilla."

The dog, like man, often becomes a victim of man's civilization. Just like his owner he is prey to a host of ailments ranging from tonsillitis and halitosis to hepatitis and a seemingly increasing amount of cancer. Cancer in dogs usually, however, is external. This may be simply because internal cancers in pets are rarely diagnosed.

"People should beware of feeding their dogs candy and the wrong kind of table scraps," said Kendall. "They have a poor tolerance for sugar. Throws 'em right into dermatitis."

Get Real Cross

Kindall gets real cross over owners who think it cute to feed their dogs alcoholic drinks. Booze can turn the mildest Fido into an uproarious cop-biter.

"Dogs tend to act like the people who own them," said Kendall. "If a man who gets aggressive when he takes aboard too much liquor starts sharing his drinks with his dog, the dog too is likely to develop an aggressive personality."

"It is inhuman to teach dissipation to an animal whose only real joy in life lies in loving you."

NEGRO PUPILS QUIT FIGHT TO ENTER SCHOOL

CLAY, Ky. (P)—Four Negro pupils gave up their fight to enter Clay Consolidated School Monday after being informed officially of a school board order denying them admittance.

After the conference ends Wednesday, delegates are to consult with their governments, then meet again in Washington, probably early next year, to draft specific recommendations.

DARKEN BEACON ON EMPIRE STATE BLDG.

NEW YORK (P)—A bright beacon atop the Empire State Building has been blacked out to prevent fatal crackups by southbound birds.

Bird lovers feared the dazzling light would charm thousands of night-flying birds off course and send them crashing into the skyscraper or each other.

The building management announced on Sunday that the powerful stationary beam will stay dark until Nov. 1 and the end of the migrating season.

William C. Rowland, company vice president, in a letter to all employees who are members of Local 107 of the Independent United Electrical Workers Union, said "several irresponsible individuals" last Saturday "showed a complete disregard for the labor agreement which was signed only last month" and prevented others from working overtime.

The UE and Westinghouse signed a new contract after a strike by the 6,000 workers that had shut down the plant 11 months.

FORBIDDEN STOPPAGE

Rowland pointed out that the new contract forbade any work stoppage "until all steps of the review at the national appeal level have been exhausted," adding:

"This common-sense course of action permits such issues to be settled peacefully, without loss of work or pay."

Rowland said apparently "certain individuals hold the labor agreement in contempt and that they do not intend to live up to its terms."

He declared that those persons which Westinghouse believes responsible for last Saturday's work stoppage "are being suspended

HIT SOCIALISTS; STILL IN OFFICE

Illegally Enrolled

Mrs. Powell told the Gordon children, James, 10, and Theresa, 8, and the Copeland brothers, Bobbie Carl, 12, and Samuel Lee, 14, that the Webster County Board of Education had barred them from entering. The board acted Friday night after the attorney general's office issued an opinion stating the children were illegally enrolled.

After the order was read, Mrs. James Gordon reached over and shook hands with Mrs. Powell.

"Thank you for your kindness," she said. "I'm taking my children back to Rosenwald." Mrs. Catherine Copeland also said her children would return to Rosenwald.

The Rosenwald school at nearby Providence is for Negroes.

Williams said National Guardsmen would remain "in Clay for the time being."

Very Dignified

Williams and Mayor Herman Z. Clark shook hands and smiled after the order was read. "It was very dignified, wasn't it?" the general asked.

"Yes sir, it was," the mayor replied.

A small crowd was on hand when Williams and the Negroes drove up to the school. Escorting the students to the front door, Williams told Mrs. Powell:

"I brought them to the door so you could read it (the order) here." A few children and teachers stood behind the principal.

Mrs. Gordon declined to say whether she would press a suit planned to be filed at Owensboro asking the U. S. District Court to require the board to admit Negroes to Clay. Previously, James Crumlin, a Louisville Negro attorney associated with the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, said he would represent the Gordon children and their parents in the action.
